

SimonParkes 2021 April 4

Hello and welcome. It's high time that I did another quick update, for Connecting Consciousness, it's the fourth of April and you must have noticed that quite a number of people who, you know, have connections and able to have useful information have been quiet of late. And some of them are under non disclosure agreements. And some people have just been asked to, you know, just not to give anything away.

What we've noticed, or what we've been told, is that the, the bad people who have been starved of their usual information, and we'll talk about a little bit about that have now gone to watching the social media sites, and they have a list I understand of key people that they like to listen to, to see if any indication of what is to come is spoken about, and then they go from their controllers, and that information is passed back. That's not, you know, dreamland, that's actually happening.

And so people who have a real commitment to ensuring that, you know, that we win this fight, we've had to curb our natural tendencies to tell everyone what's happening, was it for the greater good. But, you know, I haven't spoken for a while and I think I'll, I should do. The difficulty with Bitchute, where we're on at the moment, is that the video can't be downloaded very quickly. So a lot of lot of you guys are having to listen to the audio, because it just can't cope. Now I understand, in there, munificence, of YouTube have prepared to let me back, in April I don't know when, but we can find that out. So that that's interesting, because, you know, before we got deplatformed, know we were reaching, I was reaching 3 million people. That's the reason we got deplatformed, they don't like 3 million people having access to truth. And no other reason there that's, that's why they pull the plug and also started to talk about things that they didn't like.

Alright, so there we go. Here we are. First of all, Happy Easter, to everybody, you know, great for people to have a few days off. And good chance for Becky, who's the overall coordinator and myself as the founder of Connecting Consciousness to celebrate the fact that we have 70,000 members worldwide. And it's all been done on a shoestring.

And I wish to, and so does Becky, want to thank all of the International coordinators, the regional coordinators, the state coordinators, the county coordinators, for all the great work that you have done in the past, and you're doing at the moment. And hopefully, you'll continue to do and also to thank all the members of Connecting Consciousness for, you know, staying and contributing, and being part of this great awakening that we're on.

We're running an organization on a shoestring. And it really takes it out of you. And, you know, I don't think, why should people realize, I don't think people realize, but why should they realize, you know, if you have a quite a lot, I mean, I know Charlie Ward gets three and a half 1000 emails a day, we probably get 1000 emails a day. But that's not including all the emails that the coordinators in the different countries deal with. And, you know, it is a bit much at the moment. So I've just said, we're going to take 10 days off. And when I say 10 days off, what it means is, we'll still be here, we're not going to some little island with a palm tree. We're just going to be, you know, doing the work we do, but we're not going to be responding to all those emails, so please don't send emails, we're not really in a position at the moment to do that. And people are already equating 10 days of darkness with us taking 10 days off. You know, what is it you know, Simon that we don't know. Well we're just going to take take a few days off, because, you know, we're really snowed under with work at the moment. And, you know it, it's quite a good chart time to, I think take a bit of a step back from continually having to work with emails.

Alright, that that's, that's the domestic stuff. Let's talk about the stuff that you're interested in and we're all interested in. So in no order, no order at all. Incredible how the unawakened unaware people just think, a very long ship with containers on it got blown off course and got stuck. Maybe they think the captain fell asleep, you know at the wheel, maybe a mouse got on the steering wheel, the capstan and spun it round. And they're just believe and I think won't they. So here's the, here's the situation that all modern, modern ships are, by and large computer controlled. And you, and you fly on an airplane, passenger airplane, it has an autopilot, and a lot of the journey is on autopilot. And so it is with these great long ships that, that a lot of it is on autopilot. The the human element takes over when either it's a very tricky situation that the computer can't cope with and that's worth comforting to know that the machine has its limitations.

And you know, docking at port, coming away and things like that. But the captain, he or she would, you know, want to, to have her. And so it's not that difficult, then to understand that, let's just call them the good guys, white hats, of course, cowboy fame, took control of that craft. And literally rammed it into the bank. They did so at the narrowest point.

We know that Evergreen was the code word for Hillary Clinton, when she was in office. We also know that the call sign for that craft was the initials for Hillary Clinton call sign was a number of letters and numbers where they actually that's, that's quite shocking. But that's a fact.

When on the bridge of the ship was the captain and two Egyptian harbour guys, the guys who are supposed to pilot, a very big ship, you know, through through the canals. So the three people, who have been in control and the information I've got is that they were very unhelpful to the authorities, which makes it very suspicious and is one of the reasons that the three have been arrested. It's not been widely reported. But the captain and the two harbor guys, who pilot the ships, have been arrested. Now the American naval units worked very closely with the Egyptian Government.

You can say that, all of them, the media didn't cover it, those containers were looked at. And it's well known, that trafficking of children, many of them are put in air conditioned containers, food and water and air conditioned to don't want these people to die, because they're financially valuable to the Cabal. And so lots of children and women have been trafficked in containers. It's, it's for their perspective, it's a good way because it avoids detection. You know, you put 16, 17, 18000 containers on one ship.

And you're boarded by, so you're going to look through 18,000 containers. So it's a very clever, from their way, way of doing it. Well, I can say to you that that American marine units were in position, it was all planned. And, you know, my understanding was that there were some children in those containers. I also understand there were some who didn't make it, it's terribly tragic. So one of the reasons those three people on the ship have been arrested. But that won't be publicly known. Why, why was it done is a question many people ask. Well, the thing is, that first of all, the good people are looking at every possibility, while we're still in this covert operation, to try to get information out to anyone who's half awake and half aware. Anyone, you know, these brain dead people, they're just not going to see it. But there are a lot of people out there who are waking up.

And so it was another 911 moment in the sense that there was an official narrative, which was high winds, the ship off course. Which, you know, if you've been on a boat, you've read the newspapers and you think, how many ships use that, how many times has that happened? How can an experienced Captain let that happen? So a lot of people are waking up to that and beginning to understand that there's much more to this and every day that that a Evergreen ship, a ship, was blocking that canal, the Cabal lost between 400 and 500 million dollars per day, because they move so much drugs or or or any products really, that are, you know, connected to them that they get their kick back on. So every day that it was off, they were losing 450 to 500 million. And so that's one of the reasons that it was left there for as long as it was. And then it was moved further up. And then again, two good guys took control of it and parked it, shall we say. And so that's very interesting.

Let's talk a little bit about what is the possibility of overcoming the mainstream media. Those of you who have got good memories, will remember that Mike Pompeo, many moons ago, tried on two or three occasions, to test the system to see if mainstream media would actually carry his message and they refused point blank. Is actually an honour-bound by law to carry any Emergency Broadcast System from the federal government. It's part of their contract, doesn't matter how private, as a private company they they are absolutely enshrined in law, could be an earthquake could be anything. And they refused three times. And that even for some of the people in Trump's team, that was quite shocking, because some of them hadn't perhaps appreciated just how difficult this was going to be. So it was realized.

But in order to take control of the terrestrial mainstream media, you are not really going to be able to do it from the earth. And that you would need to do it from space. You will have seen some clips on YouTube, under the title of meteorite or asteroid. In others, some people saying that was a ballistic missile shot down. The only reason that YouTube keeping it up is because people who filmed it on their mobile phones, their cell phones, recorded it as an asteroid or a meteorite. So it didn't trigger YouTube's truth, truth alarm, moreover, I can tell you is that these were more than one, satellites, operated by Mossad. And these satellites were communication satellites. And it was quite important that these satellites were taken out of commission, and they were done so from space. So don't imagine missiles or energy Beam Weapons fired from the ground. These were hunter killer satellites, that took out these cabal, communication satellites.

And as of last week, a further 60, white hat satellites were launched, bringing to the total of around about 120 new satellites, which are part of a global network of communications, which should they be required, would allow the good guys to completely control not just the media in the United States, but the world. And this is really important and the date we've been given for them going live may not be the truth and being given the data to seventh of April when they go live. But it's my experience that if we're given the seventh, they're already probably alive and working, or will be very shortly. And this is a absolutely important part of the space force.

And President Trump spoke about the space force. Many people had this vision of, you know, the enterprise starship or the traditional flying saucer. Now that may well be, but I think when President Trump was speaking about it, he was more talking about more material that we would understand in terms of being able to police, at least the inner space, shall we say, between here and 250,000 miles out to the moon. And so this type of operation would require a completely new set of satellites. You know, you're talking about every country having a different language, every country using a different system, and you got to be able to deal with everything in one go. You can't just say well, okay, we'll have a chat with America. Three days later, we'll have a chat with Japan. It has got to be right across the board.

And so it's not just a case of throwing a switch. There are so many people who got terribly frustrated, and think it's the easiest thing in the world to switch off a particular broadcaster. It's not actually it's, it's really it's really complicated. And so just to let You know that there are 120 new satellites, which will be part of that system if, if they should be required.

There's been a lot, very recently, speculation and quite a lot of talk about some big actions and I oh, on the Doug Billings show about a month ago, I, half in jest said, I wouldn't have a problem, if, you know, they did away with the White House. And Doug, I think said to me, something otherwise, what do you mean, I said, well just put a wrecking ball through it or bulldoze it or knock it down. You know, because nobody's living in the White House, even the actor, Biden, is not in the White House. I don't think there's has anyone in it. So if a weapon from space was activated on the White House, I don't think anyone would lose their life.

And the good guys are very, very conscious that nobody should lose their life and think about Nashville. Nashville was not a bad guy action, it was a white hat action, and not a single person lost their life. So congratulations to the white hats. Well done. Well planned. Excellent. Shows what you can do when you've been given a free hand, doesn't it? And I'm glad that, you know, people didn't get involved and make your lives very difficult or give you extra problems you just were able to get on and deliver that and that was excellent. I think there's probably more to come isn't there?

So, you know, we talk about the Three Gorges Dam, and we can't mention that word? Well, I think we can. There have been so many earthquakes, and that dam is realistically weakened. They probably will only take another maybe five or six on the scale to seriously cause a crack in that dam for that dam to come down. It really is weakened. You know, that's not just hyperbole. I mean, it really is damaged. And, you know, another good decent earthquake and that will come down. And that will be a natural disaster and sort of an act of God, really.

So what we're looking at, I think, is these debates that have been coming out that in it could be some actions taken against certain targets in New York, certain places. And, you know, there's some real hysteria now, people are saying, if you get the alarm, you must run for the hills. Now look, good guys, don't kill people, unnecessarily. Otherwise, you become like the bad people. And then everything you fought for, is for nothing. Because you've just replaced one tyranny with another.

You remember the Nashville where that camper van was just broadcasting, "Evacuate, there's a bomb, evacuate, there's a bomb" and giving a countdown. Bad guys wouldn't have done that. They'd have sold ice cream or hot dogs from the back to get as many people as possible and to kill as many as possible. We always know from the modus operandi, who's behind things. And so I don't think it's helpful for some of these people to talk about either there's going to be a catastrophe in New York or somewhere or somewhere. And they talk about the rods of God, there's two types of space weapon, there's the one that is publicly known as the rods of God and there's a secret weapon which people don't know about. And the Nashville was not rods of God. Nashville was another secret weapon, more secret than rods of God. You know if your in intelligence, your in the military and you have two, two cards, two cards doesn't matter what they are you show the letter of the card to everybody and they think "mmm, that's the king of spades, you know, that's a really good card" what you don't show them is the Ace that you hold. So everybody thinks right he's got the king and that's what they plan on. But of course if your holding the Ace and you play that then the otherside doesn't have an answer for it and so it is the Ace of spades that could well be played, but the point is, I don't, I got horrified when I was hearing this and I really couldn't condone any good guy action to take out an object that would have collateral damage. And I don't except the fact that everybody in their particular city is evil. You know you have a block there might be five bad people and five good people. That doesn't justify you killing all ten people. Now that's not what I'm about and don't believe most of you are about and don't think that's what the white hats are about so if there is to be actions, act of God type of actions think it would be on targets that have nobody around. It's, I'm quite happy for the White House to be dealt with no one in there, one Capitol Building? hmmm As long as there's no one in there, certainly the tunnels have all been emptied. And, you know, it's, you know, their both evil places. But the Capitol Hill bombing actually is pretty bad. And so, you know, do away with that and replace it with a memorial garden or something like that. But there may be other places in New York like a satanic statue, or some Satanic Temple, or something that's masquerading as a DIY stores or several Evans store. But really, is some cult headquarters, might not have any problem with that being taken out. But I certainly wouldn't subscribe to this, this panic view that's going around social media, that there are going to be these indiscriminate attacks by the good guys, on populated cities. And then that is not helpful, you know, if anything is going to be taken out will be surgically, strategically taken out, if at all, who knows. But they have the capability to do that.

And a lot of these earthquakes that have been detected in different parts of the world are in fact the tungsten, armed or depleted uranium armed rods of God. They do create on the Richter scale, between four and five, generally speaking, depending on on the bedrock and what they're going for. But a number of earthquakes and they've been proportionately a lot, according to experts who've told me, around that four to five mark. And in some of those cases, I actually do believe that weapons from space have been used to deal with, not necessarily in America, but in other countries. And so that's, that's quite exciting that, that I believe, that's occurring and happening.

And so, but I, you know, I don't think it's, it's wise to start saying that the city is going to be hit and that city is going to be hit. When you get the warning, evacuate run for the hills, as a sort of terms that been said, What about if you're in a wheelchair? What about if you're a single parent? How do you run for the hills, if you, you know, you're on welfare, you might be a really good person and in a wheelchair. Who's going to get you out? These are the points of the good guys should be asking themselves. That's why it shouldn't happen. That any targets that are going for, are targets that have zero, or are projected to have zero loss of life, and where there are casualties than they are casualties of people who are operating particular facility or are deeply embedded in that satanic culture, and therefore, are legitimate military targets.

In terms of governments of the world, I honestly think that when President Trump is returned, then we'll see some semblance of sanity returning to world governments. At the moment, the captain of the ship is not on the bridge, officially. And all these other little boats, with their captains are sort of saying, "Well, what do I do now?" There's nobody on there and then sort of turning the wheel left and turning the wheel, right. And of course, all these satanic kabbalistic people are whispering in the ears of otherwise good leaders, telling them this and telling them that, and feeding them full of fear, might be about COVID. It might be about anything. And I think once Trump comes back, then I think that those those evil rats will disappear back into the shadows. And it will embolden good men and women throughout the world. There are some, are some good people, embolden them to you know, come back and do what's right for the people, not what's right for this small evil group. Who want to rule the world.

And so, there are positive signs, you know, there really are and the very fact that many of us have been told to cool it, and not divulge anything that could have a material assistance to the enemy. And that actually is very encouraging.

In terms of the quantum financial system, I of course, will tip my hat to Charlie Ward who knows a lot more about it than I do. But what I will say to you is that it is a key part of humanity's freedom. Again, those of you who've been with me a long time. Know for over 10 years, I've talked about you know the power of money, and how they call it the Babylon spell a Babylonian spell of magic? And basically how can you have a free human race, if they are trapped by a few people controlling money. And so this new system, if it works well, and free all of us from this slavery, that which the the traditional financial system is and was always designed to be. And I think if you starve the Cabal, from their lifeblood, and that's not adrenochrome, in this case, it is money. If you starve them of their their money, the cannot then do all the operations.

And it's not widely known that the the mint in America stopped making coins. And on the Inland Revenue Service the IRS in America, have called, last week, an emergency meeting, because part of the new financial system will starve the old regime of money. And so the IRS have called a top level meeting, because they've noticed a real drawdown on their resources. And, you know, the bad guys lose 450 million every day because the canal was blocked, it's money they can't get. They are pulling money out of the stock market and trying to buy other things with it. And I do believe that they will be successful in the sense that they will get the money out. But I do believe that a good government will come after them and take that money back and put it back into the pot.

It's very hard for all of us, including myself, to actually get our head around the amount of money we're talking about that the bad guys have been hoarding. You know, it's just part of their culture. I've often talked over the last 10 or 11 years of a nice chocolate cake. And you know, how it's run by the Cabal. And, you know, if you're fair, you cut your cake into slices at five of you, you cut it by five, or maybe you you do a little bit smaller, so that you've got a slice left to share amongst people, but you try to be nice and and equal and share it out. But of course, what the bad guys do is that they, they take three quarters of the cake for themselves. They cut those other pieces and give them out. And then they come after those people to get those pieces of cake back. In terms of company, what would happen is that they would then come in and try and you know, buy over the board or the directorship. So they control that company.

And so that's the way they've worked. Well, this new system won't allow. And it's beginning to show just how much money these very, very evil people, over goodness knows how many years, have just squirreled away. I mean, the figure we were given for the Vatican was 34 quintillion. And there were tunnels, something like 60 miles long. And there was gold, of course, jewelry, paintings, artwork, artifacts, some of them going right back to ancient Alexandria. And some really, really astonishing things. And, you know, it didn't fill this tunnel 60 miles long in terms of fill, but it lined it. So on both sides of the tunnel, there was all this, there was cash as well. Precious objects, lining 60 miles of tunnel. And goodness knows, they did tell me, I can't remember how many aeroplane loads were crated and sent off. And, you know, went to where they've been stolen from. Much of it came back to the United States of America. But others went to other places where it was obvious where it had been stolen from and taken from. And, you know, we were shown the new, the new note that will replace the currencies of the world.

The United States note, really interesting, we've seen the prototype for the Russian one. Other countries won't be easily going down that road at the moment, but I think there'll be basically forced into it. So we have a system now, I think, which is just about ready to liberate humanity. But that comes to the final point now, it's about the people. So many people realize that something was wrong. And so many people quite rightly expect somebody else to do it. But here's the point. Once America and the world is put into balance, as a, as a peoples, what we should say is, never again, will we allow anybody to come in and steal our sovereignty from under our noses. Because that's what's happened over 1000s of years, people have come in elite bloodlines or just strong men. And through force or trickery, they put themselves in positions of power. So there was the, the guy that dug the land, and the master who lived in the big house. And, you know, the guy had to give three quarters of whatever he grew on the land to the master. And that was that was accepted. And that was called the feudal system, and it was Middle Ages.

So we need to understand that we need to throw off 1000s of years of the shackles of the control system, that won't be easy. But what a relief, when people actually understand that they can live a much more free and happier life, without the big system, crushing us all the time. And that's one of the things, isn't it? No, I was chatting to a couple of people. Not so long ago, we were saying that we are kept so busy. Deliberately, the system keeps us so busy, we don't have a moment for ourselves. And yet, our spiritual people are continually talking about meditation. And the system tries to stop us meditating, tries to stop us thinking, by putting 1 million tasks or worries or concerns in front of us in front of our face. And I hope that when this new system comes in on April, through perhaps a reduction in taxation, perhaps a reduction in interest rates, allow people more breathing space. You don't have to work for every penny, because you got to keep a roof over your head. Maybe it's the future is coming where we can take some time to really look into ourselves and develop ourselves and those people around us. So that that is not just about a change in the money, it's a change in the way that humans live, because their control system has reduced around them. So that that's important, in terms of Connecting Consciousness, you know, we have now 70,000 members worldwide. And we are growing, very pleased with the way that it's developing in the countries. And you know, we are as a group, we're looking at how we can bring a real, physical and spiritual systems to people.

We've identified a number of, so far, just a small number of potential places where we can do some work. And I've talked about, you know, Great Britain, looking at setting up a healing center there, certainly in the United States, and but other countries as well, I'm not going to forget Europe, I'm not going to forget Africa, I'm not going to forget Australia, we're going to forget Ireland, Scotland, Wales. So you know, we hope, I hope to be in a position where connecting consciousness can use its quite unique network. Across the globe, we are stronger in some places and weaker in others. That's the nature of it. But to be able, where we have a strong base, a strong network, to put projects in, and let's just call them the new financial government. Let's hope that the new financial government will recognize all of the spiritual groups across the planet, all of the spiritual individuals who didn't just jump on a bus yesterday and say, you know, I'm spiritual, but I've been on this journey for a long time have a track record, which you know, has shown that consistency, you know, and let us deliver the change that is desperately needed on this earth, or let's not use the same old bad guys. The same old organizations that always get the government contracts, every time they don't have to do anything, they just don't even have to turn up to the office. Perhaps they'd have to fill a form in or make a phone call. But it's a done deal with these people. And I'm sure many of you listening to me today, you've worked in organizations that call themselves a charity, but act like an empire. I've worked for charities, some were very, very good. And some were dreadful. And I think that, you know, there are a number of individuals or organizations we wouldn't want going anywhere near a humanitarian project. We wouldn't trust that individual or that organization or that Corporation. No matter how, you know, distant it might be from perhaps the big names that we're aware of, to deliver life saving or spiritual giving projects, we just wouldn't trust them. And I think that's the difference now that the, the bad people, they're control of those institutions, that should be severely reduced. And that would mean that are smaller organizations that would never be invited to a government would never be invited to sit down and break bread, it's very good on Easter, that's a bit of an in joke, isn't it? With with, with the government to get a contract, you know, just wouldn't. And I've always said, From my experience, where I used to work for local councils in London, you know, and you only got money when someone else had given you money.

So for instance, you put a grant into the urban fund, and you get maybe 20,000 from them, then you go to the European Social Fund, and they may give you 50,000, when you go to the home office, depending on what the project is, and it could be 10,000. local council might give you 5000. But they're all giving you money, because somebody else gave you money. Not not for any other reason. So it's a safe bet, you know, and it's called match funding. And so those organizations, their ethos wasn't actually, in many cases about doing good work for people. It was about building an empire. It was about creating an attraction with government, or with international funders, and the banks. And it was about being seen as a goto organization if you wanted to, you know, push some money in someone's direction. And, you know, in the organizations I worked there, the rule basically was we don't care how you do it, just hit the targets. You know that was the culture, and very rarely can remember any of my other bosses never phoned me up and wanting to inquire about the clients. All it was was have you hit the targets? Have you done this? Have you done that? You know, the only time I really had a good was with Tower Hamlets Council. Tower Hamlets council were excellent. And, you know, yes, sure, they had to go for their contracts, but with my line managers in that regeneration, actually cared about people. And that was the only time I really experienced, you know, my superiors actually, complimenting me on, you know, assisting deprived individuals, and my team, wonderful team I had, helping them and getting those people into worthwhile employment, or college or university or whatever it might have been. But in most cases, it's just a conveyor belt. And we do need to get away from because human life is more important. And remember, I used to five years ago, six years ago, I used to say, why is it? Well, the guy who runs a bank will be paid more money every week, or every month, than a person is usually a woman, but not exclusively so, then a woman who works in a care home, looking after old people, some of whom are dying of cancer or dying of something, and has to go in every day, and be cheerful, and physically lift that person and check everything's right. And if it's not right to call a doctor, why, why? Why is a bank manager paid so much more money than than than the person who goes in and looks after dying people? And there's an answer to that? And the answer is, the bank manager makes money. The care worker doesn't make any money. They just alleviate the suffering. And so, the Cabalic system, the satanic system, doesn't value caring, it doesn't value, looking after people, all it values is how much money have you made? How much money have you saved? And the people who matter to these people like the Cabal, so let's say there's a big boss, a big gang member in the Cabal and he gets very ill. He won't go to state aid. He'll have some special Swiss hospital or wherever it might be. And so he doesn't suffer the cutbacks, he doesn't suffer the lack of funding, he doesn't suffer the indignity of that, because he has got so much money that he's elite, and he buys his way out of it. But all the rest of us, we have to take what we can get. And that's how it's been. And to a certain extent, we're all guilty, because we've allowed this over 1000s of years to occur.

We've allowed these people to do this. And they're very clever, they do it bit by bit. And I'd like to live in a world where the lady down the road looks after them, 90 year old, doesn't just get the barest minimum wage and is treated like rubbish. But actually is saluted and hailed as a wonderful person who supports and assists an elder person in the last few years of their life. Sometimes it's the last few months of their life, but does everything that that you would wish that you would be done to you if you're in that position. And so, we should be celebrating them and we should be valuable, we should be giving these people money, not just nurses, nurses are a part of a strong union. If every nurse walked out, then the government would be in a ripe-old pickle. There's so many people who do good deeds, don't have anyone to speak up for them. We need to get away from this aspect, that man or a woman who makes a lot of money is successful, and is valuable. And the person who doesn't is not successful and not valuable. That is one of the greatest evils that faces humanity. And we are all guilty in allowing that system. Well that needs to go, absolutely needs to get we need to value life. And no matter who it is, whether we know them or not, we need to value life, we need to actually say that money is very useful. And we can do good work with it. But it doesn't become our God.

So I hope in the coming days and weeks, we are going to see a massive change on this planet. And I don't just mean on the social media side. I mean, it's got to have an effect. It has to be on mainstream media, you know, to have an effect. Basically, mainstream media has got to be taken down, the Emergency Broadcast System has got to come out. How else? Will the half dead, brain dead people actually understand the truth? And then how else will they realize and begin that long journey of awakening. And all of those if you listened to me, you may have started your long journey yesterday. Or you may have started it 30 years ago, 40 years ago, who knows. But the point is that there's a shedload of people, a ton of people out there who have not yet started their journey, and well need this proverbial kickstart this slap to get them to question. And so perhaps we do need the mainstream media being shut down for 10 days, we do need a few issues to make people really leave their humdrum life and start to question. And I think that that will be the turning point for a far better future for humanity. And finally, with a Q movement, the only reason that the Q has been able to predict years, certainly months, but actually years ahead, and genuinely can is because of the quantum computer. The bad guys have a computer, it's not quantum, but they have a computer which is based in the lower fourth dimension. And that is effective up to about six months. And I've talked about it before human human race is so unpredictable, that if you attempt to predict more than six months ahead, it's pretty damn difficult when you're operating in the lower fourth dimension. Well, quantum is much higher, it's outside of the fourth dimension. Some people call it or equate it to God-type energy. I don't know that I would agree with that. But I call it fifth dimensional. And that has the ability and then some people say it through the Akashic, projecting forward, not just the back but projecting forward to a spirit timeline.

And I do believe and I think that it can, it can see something and you know, it will report it 1,2,3 years before it happens. Now the bad guys don't have that. That's really important. They do not have access to that, which means that they are only competent six months ahead. So the good guys can lay traps for them a year ahead, two years ahead, three years ahead. And those of you who've studied, President Trump, will know that, that's exactly what he's done. He's laid traps. Now President Trump knows exactly what he's doing. And the team around him know exactly what he's doing. And they know what they're doing, and that's why I said, you know, don't trust the plan, trust the man. And I'm so pleased that we didn't have a huge armed civilian uprising, it could have well have have gone that way. And, you know, what would that have achieved? Absolutely nothing. If 1000s of loyal patriots have taken to the streets, you wouldn't have been facing the Cabal, or Antifa, you'd have been facing National Guard, cops or regular military. And that's exactly what Antifa and the bad guys wanted. They wanted patriots to be in a standoff fight with their own friends i.e. the military. So I thank I thank the Lord, that the American people didn't take the bait. I thank the Lord that the American people did not take the anger out on anyone in a uniform. And that was very important. And, and the bad guys were very angry that they had not successfully caused the revolution, a civil revolution In America. That's what they wanted.

And then they would have labeled everybody who was a true patriot, they would have labeled everyone as as a as a violent criminal gang member. You know, when I was on YouTube, and I referred to people at a Trump rally. I referred to people at a Trump rally as patriots. One of the reasons I got kicked off YouTube was because YouTube said that they weren't patriots. These were violent. This is exact words "violent criminal gang members." So a Trump supporter, if on YouTube, on their rules and regulations is a crime gang member. Therefore, if you promote a Trump supporter, in YouTube's parlance, you are promoting a violent gang member. So your deplatform. And I was deplatformed, three months off YouTube, because I spoke positively about patriots. I spoke positively about President Trump. It was never never rude and very rarely swear. I don't say anything that's illegal. And I say you know, I can go out on the street corner here. And I can speak easily and a policeman or policewoman can walk past me. And they might say, can you keep your voice down, sir? But it's not illegal. I say the same things on YouTube. And somebody who's never been elected, decides that, oh, you can't say that. That's the danger.

And, you know, President Trump is a very clever man. And I can assure you that he wouldn't be happy in allowing this situation to go on a moment longer than it has to. You know, we do have a situation where we have God knows how many actors playing Biden. God knows how many clones, don't know how many standings, how many impersonators. Don't know how many people with a mask over the face, don't know how many robots, don't know how many holographs, and probably will be shocked at the, at the the range of models, they've got to do that. But as much as it angers me, actually entertains me when he said, You know, he went to the Senate 120 years ago. You know, you you got to ask yourself, Is he trying to help the good guys? Is he actually trying to help as he trying to wake people up? Or is he just completely crazy. Maybe it's a mixture either.

So, just wanted to reconnect with everybody. Taking a few days off, 10 days off, in fact, not on a sun drenched summer holiday with a palm tree and a nice cold drink. We are working but we're not going to do with the heavy stuff that we do every day day in day out. We don't have a paid team. We rely on volunteers when we're very grateful. But, you know, we do need some help. So, bit of a break. But we're still, we're still here, of course, we're still planning for the future. And we do believe the future is going to be really exciting. You know, we've got this connection to the United States, we've got the connection to Britain. And, you know, to our plan to, you know, operate as many countries as possible to have bases in a number of countries where we can go out and turn connecting consciousness into a not-for-profit organization. So it's a, to apply the word charity, because it's got such a nasty overtone for me, but that's what it will be. It'll be a non-for-profit organization. But my goodness, me, it's gonna have rules and regulations to prevent all the the nastiness that I saw when I worked for charitable organizations. So it's really exciting for us, we just want to get going, like every other good person on this planet, deliver good things. Just see a change in the world. The days where the satanic, evil, nasty people automatically got rewarded and the good person was just forgotten, could be a job you were overlook for job, it could be that, you know, it was a financial deal. It could be anything, more swapped around now, let's have the good people being rewarded. And let's educate the bad people that that doesn't pay any more, that they've got to change. And I don't just mean, put on a Biden mask and play a part I mean, really change from inside. And let's good people be rewarded. Because good always triumphs over evil. And, you know, God, the source, great creator, whatever term you want, didn't bring us all here to fall at the last minute to midnight. That's not what the plan was. We were brought here to be tested. Those of us that saw it through would go on and develop and those that didn't put have to go around the racetrack another time. But the great creator, who is responsible, the source ain't gonna let the bad guys win in the end. 100% convinced of that, thank you very much indeed. Lovely to speak to all and a Happy Easter to all of you. Thank you.
